HERE COME THE COLTS!

Baltimore's fabulous Colts, who have taken the City of Baltimore by storm, will move into Philadelphia next Sunday afternoon to battle the high-flying Eagles accompanied by some 3000 rabid fans and the Colts' colorful marching band.

The Colts have aroused interest among the Baltimoreans the like of which has seldom been equalled. The fans, who fought long and hard to get professional football back in their fair city, have backed the team to the very hilt vocally and at the turnstiles.

For the game here in Philadelphia next Sunday at Connie Mack Stadium, the Baltimore rooters have purchased tickets in droves. They are coming up here in special trains, chartered buses and private automobiles.

The game also has started to arouse interest throughout the City of Philadelphia and upstate sections. It seems the Eagles' fans have caught the fever and want to see the Eagles beat the Colts as much as the Baltimore fans want to see the Colts whip the Eagles.

But beating the Eagles these days is a mighty large order. The club has caught fire as witness the Birds' scoring flurry racking up 91 points in two games and 114 in the last three prior to today's action against the New York Giants.

However, the Colts feel they have the wherewithal to dump the Birds in their own nest. And they point to a couple former Eagles as their chief reasons, namely quarterback Freddie Enke and fullback John Huzvar.

Another ex-Eagle with the Baltimore clan is Jack Del Bello, Enke's sub at quarterback. Enke has given the club what it needed in passing strength and Huzvar the power as the running fullback. Jack Del Bello has seen little action since he joined the club only two weeks ago.

Another crowd pleaser is Bert Rechichar, defensive safety man who set a National League record with a 56-yard field goal, the first time he tried the art. The former Cleveland Brown also is death on passes.

Keith Molesworth, head coach of the Colts, has a balanced attack. Using the 250-pound Huzvar, nicknamed the Hershey Hurricane as his bulldozer, Molesworth has two fast halfbacks in George Taliaferro and Buddy Young, both of whom played here last year with the now defunct Dallas Texans.

Buck McPhail, All-American from Oklahoma, splits the fullback duties with Huzvar. The Oklahoma rookie is getting better with each contest.

Danny Edwards, six-year veteran from Georgia, and Mel Embree, first year man from Pepperdine, are the top pass catching ends and Enke's favorite targets. Elmer Wingate, rookie from the University of Maryland, and Monte Brethauer, another rookie from the University of Oregon, spell Edwards and Embree as pass receivers.

The Colts opened the season by beating the Chicago Bears, 13-9 and then lost a close one to the Detroit Lions, 27-17. They bounced back to repeat over the Bears, this time, 16 to 14. Green Bay then beat the Baltimore eleven, 37 to 14 but the Colts rebounded to upend the Washington Redskins, their bitter rivals, 27-17. Green Bay came into Baltimore and again whipped the Colts, 35-24.

Going into Saturday's game with Detroit, the Colts own a 3-3 record.

Following Sunday's game with the Colts on November 15, the Chicago Cardinals will tackle the Eagles on Saturday night, November 21. This is the same Cardinals' team the Eagles shellacked in Chicago, 56-17. So the boys from the Windy City will be in town hurting for revenge.
