... You, the people. You've put East End Rambler and West End Rambler first in sales in Ohio. You've done it by buying your Rambler at East End Rambler or West End Rambler. You've done it by telling your friends about East End Rambler and West End Rambler. About the service department, for example, that every year draws people from every corner of the state. About the huge Used Car City, where volume is so great that it's been among the first ten in Greater Cleveland for the past ten years.

... Our thanks to you, our customers, the greatest sales staff we ever had!

INJURIES PLAY AN IMPORTANT ROLE IN WINNING AND LOSING GAMES

By HERMAN GOLDSTEIN
Cleveland News

WITH THIS PROGRAM in your hands you will look out on the field, the Browns playing the New York Giants, and there will be players listed who are not in the game. Some will not even be in uniform.

The fact of injuries is the hardest in football. Players do get hurt. When 250-pounder crashes 250-pounder something may be forced to give. This is to be expected and there isn't a thing a coach, or a club owner, or a worshipful fan can do about it.

Yet at times injuries have been the decisive factor between winning a game, or losing. Not only for one game, in fact, but for the entire season's record.

The Giants have won just one pro championship in 20 years. That was in 1956.

That was, you recall, the first year after Otto Graham had quit football and the Browns had to replace him at quarterback. They had George Ratterman and behind him was Babe Parilli. Ratterman, first, was knocked out for the season, a bad knee, then Parilli was lost.

But that season of 1956 the Giants were able to go through the entire campaign with their backfield, a first-class group, intact. This was Charley Conerly, Frank Gifford, Alex Webster and Mel Triplett.

INCIDENTALLY, injuries are relative. Often a player can continue playing despite a bump but not at his full efficiency. There may be a sore shoulder, which hampers blocking, or a weak ankle, which cuts down mobility. The guy may play but he can't be at his best and in this kind of competition only everybody's best gives you a chance to win.

In 1956, the Giants' backs continued at top physical condition all the way and the Giants won. They were lucky and luck, every coach will admit, is part of winning.

Today, the Giants come into the Stadium not so lucky. And not winning as much.

The Giants have been playing without Roosevelt Grier, who rates their strongest defensive lineman. In a league of big men, Grier is one of the biggest. Before he went into military service he was generally considered a pro all-star. A team loses something when it loses a player of Grier's caliber.

Today, the Giants have to play without Frank Gifford, long one of pro football's greatest halfbacks. Gifford is not the fastest, nor the biggest, nor the greatest forward passer or receiver. But he does everything with fine skill. And he has no peer in the game in the running pass, optional or not, which is a most effective weapon.

The Giants can likely do a good job without Gifford but they would be better with him.

There have been other injuries in the New York Roster and the Browns have had their share. No club is spared. Warren Lahr, for instance, has been sidelined a long time and he's been one of the great defensive backs in the game. And, of course, an all-pro offensive tackle, Mike McCormack, has been lost.

These are things a coach can't control. But—he's expected to win regardless.

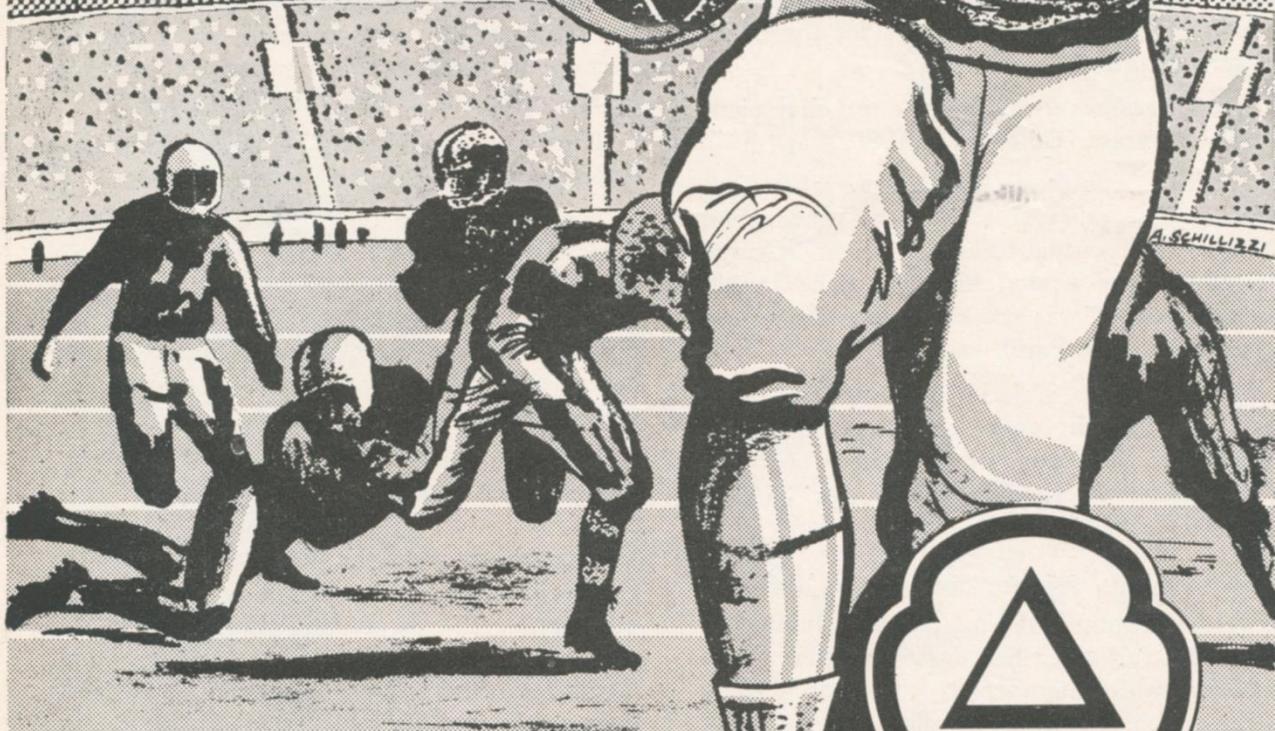

SPEAKING OF CONTROL, and the New York Giants, reminds of one of the weird games in the Browns' history. It was played against the Giants in the Polo Grounds about five years ago. It came up heavy rain, there was no protection by tarpaulin and the field was a complete muddy mess.

Paul Brown had prepared and planned for the game. So had Steve Owen, then still the New York coach. The coaches had worked hard, the teams had worked hard. And all the planning and work was wasted. Mud decided the victory.

The score? Browns 7, Giants 0.

3 MAJOR ADVANCEMENTS IN SUPER BORON®

IMPROVES SPARK PLUG PERFORMANCE

Important advances in the composition of Super Boron Gasoline have extended the engine condition benefits of Boron to the spark plugs. Super Boron reduces spark plug misfiring and keeps plugs performing better... longer. The result is greater engine smoothness during the entire life of the plugs. This conditioning effect on the spark plugs usually requires several tankfuls of Super Boron and continues so long as Super Boron is used.

KEEPS CARBURETORS CLEAN

2 Super Boron offers important benefits for your carburetor. It prevents the formation of carburetor throat deposits. By keeping carburetors clean and in better working condition, Super Boron assures smoother idling and greater freedom from stalling. This important advancement offers a great advantage to cars with automatic transmissions.

GIVES GREATER SMOOTHNESS

Super Boron makes a major advance in the way gasoline burns in an engine. Due to its formulation, Super Boron greatly reduces power wasting, faulty combustion that causes engine roughness, noise and rumble. It offers you smooth-burning qualities never before available in motor fuel. Chances are that you will notice this greater smoothness after only a few tankfuls of Super Boron.

THESE TWO DAYTON, OHIO BANDS WILL ENTERTAIN AT HALF-TIME

FAIRVIEW HIGH SCHOOL BAND, MAJORETTES, AND SCOTCHETTES

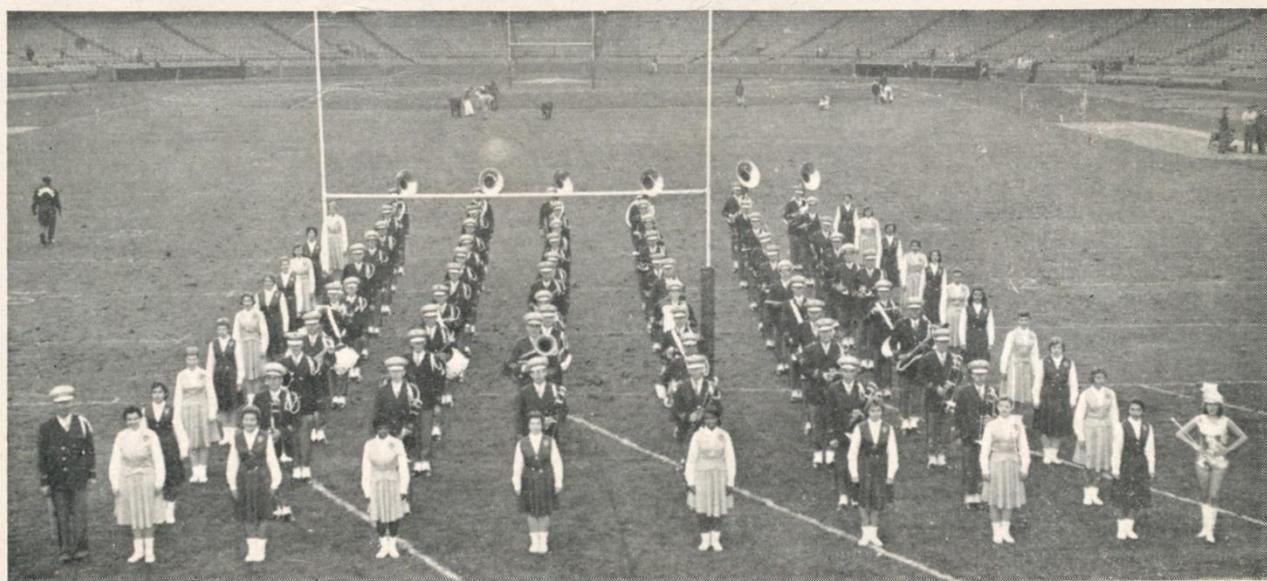

Coming to perform for you today at half-time, and for the third straight year, are the FAIRVIEW HIGH SCHOOL BAND, MAJORETTES, AND SCOTCHETTES from Dayton, Ohio. The entire organization is under the leadership of Robert H. Griep, Director of Music at Fairview High School.

Today's half-time will consist of the traditional entrance, the Highland Fling, an authentic Scotch Sword Dance to the music of Lord Hume's Reel, dance routines to the music of "Twilight Time" and "Sugartime", and a drill by the Band. To conclude the program, these groups will be joined by the University of Dayton Band for a climax salute to the City of Dayton.

Mr. Griep has been at Fairview for the past twelve years as Band and Orchestra Director. He has served on the board of the Ohio Music Education Association and is known as an adjudicator and guest conductor. He is also the leader of one of the better known dance orchestras in Southwestern Ohio.

Numbering one hundred and fifty, these organizations will capture your hearts.

UNIVERSITY OF DAYTON BAND and MARCHING COEDS

UNIVERSITY OF DAYTON BAND—60 marching men—Director: Maurice R. Reichard, Chairman of Department of Music, University of Dayton. Thirtieth year as University of Dayton Band Director. Also conducts University Concert Band.

Drum Major: Tom Whitt, freshman business student, graduate of Mansfield (Ohio) High School. Band officers: James Wolf, Dayton, president; Ronald Meyer, Dayton, vice-president. David Rump, Minster (Ohio), treasurer. Jerry Lonsway, Fostoria, publicity manager.

MARCHING COEDS—24 girls—Captain of the Marching Coeds: Patty Gerlach, Huntington, West Virginia.

The University of Dayton Band is one of the few small college

Bands retaining an all-male marching-unit. The "Marching Coed" idea was originated in this area by the University of Dayton Band, this unit differing from various dance or twirling corps of other schools in that it is not a separately performing group, but works with the Band as one body of performers. The girls do not play, but enter into all formations, precision drills, etc. They are at times assigned dance or ballet-type movements for color purposes.

The personnel of the University of Dayton Band and Marching Coeds includes students from all of the University's divisions: Arts, Engineering, Education, Business, Science, Technical Institute, and Fine Arts.

Just as many Greater Clevelanders agree that a Check-Tronic checking account at Society NATIONAL BANK is the fastest way to "score" at bill-paying time. Writing and mailing checks saves you a lot of time and effort. And when you add Check-Tronic's speed when making deposits, any quarterback knows the next play: a quick opener at the Check-Tronic checking account window.

It's the "extra points" that count!

THE POINT AFTER TOUCHDOWN . . . the field goal; the "extra points" that show a team's true mettle and send it soaring toward the championship — these are the points that count.

IN BUSINESS, TOO, it's the "extra points" that count—the extra services a store can offer to its customers in appreciation of their patronage. Like the ticket service Burrows makes available to Clevelanders—thru which they can obtain tickets for all important local sports and cultural events. (No standing in line at the box-office . . . no bothering and waiting for mail-order tickets) . . . Or, Burrows' "special order book service" which blankets the nation and supplements Burrows already huge book stock . . . Or Burrows' "Children's Book Department", dedicated to the betterment of child education for generations to come . . . Or the "extra values" that Burrows buyers are diligently and constantly ferreting out in order to bring savings to everyone.

THESE AND MANY MORE "EXTRAS" — like the opening of more than a dozen neighborhood Burrows' stores for the convenience of shoppers — are the "extra points" that have maintained Burrows' leadership over the past 85 years. Next time you shop — whether for books or for gifts . . . for stationery or pens . . . for office supplies or office furniture . . . for school supplies or for art supplies — be sure you get the "extra points" by shopping at Burrows.
